«March rath.

On the Court resuming after tiffi, Mr. Mitchell Innes was further questioned and said :-- J examined into the payment represented by counterfoil 1678 That is in the handwriting of the defendant. It states that on 23rd December 1892 there were received from N. J. Ede $190.36 being amounts of rent due on Inland Lots Nos. 724. 725. 727 and 728 for the year ending 25th December, 1892. It is initialled as having been registered by defendant. The same total appears in defendant's handwriting in his daily collection book opposite audit number 1678 under date 23rd December, 1892. In the rent roll for 1892 are corresponding entries for Inland lot 724 under the name of A. G. Gordon and Co. Limited. I find on the date 23rd December 1802, in the prisoner's handwriting two entries. The first on account of payment for the first half year; the second on account of payment for the second half year. The amounts in each case are $74.38. Opposite Inland Lot 725 on the same date and in prisoner's writing I find similar entries each being for an amount of $84.63. Opposite Inland Lot 717 on the same date and in prisoner's writing appear similar entries each being for $124.67, and opposite I. L. 728, same date and same name, two sums each for $61.70 making a total of $690 36 as against $190.36 shown by the prisoner in his account book, and counterfoil 1688. In consequence of these discrepancies I sent for the defendant. He came into the rent-roll room which was his room up til the end of last year. The local auditor and showed him these discrepancies and saked him hew he explained them. "What did he say ?- : e said it was a clerical

I there found the defendant and the local auditor. With them and the second shroff I proceeded to examine the second shroff's rough book. I had occasion to send the defendant to get some information, and he returned after an absence of about a minute. The local auditor left the cashler's room and returned immediately saying. in the defendant's presence, that the counterfoil book 1701 to 1800 had disappeared. I called the defendant's attention to the fact. He sug gested it might have been taken from the office by Mr Hooper, Secretary of the Land Investlocal auditor and myself. I made a general search through the Treasury for the book there and then, but could not find it. I directed the attention of most of the officials in the Treasury to the fact. Mr. Johnson-You told us defendant kept the ledgers ?-Yes, (Shown ledger for 1890) This was kept by the prisoner; I am looking at the land revenue. It is in prisoner's handwriting. The total for the year is $180,045.36. That is the total brought to the credit of the Government by the prisoner.

Now look at the ledger for 1893 .- I find in this ledger an entry in priconer's handwriting under heading leased lands a total, including interest of $104.10, $180,249.25.

What does that represent ?-The total brought to the credit of the Government for the year on account of Crown rent. Under the same heading in the ledger, for 1892 I find the monthly totals in the prisoner's handwriting (the casting appears to be in the handwriting of some one else). I find the total Ir cluding $4.7 of interest amounts for the year $180,867.44. I produce the rent roll for 1891 kept by the prisoner; the men from Macao broke into 'a hruse at Cross-castings and totals are in the handwriting of Mr. Remedios, one of the Treasury clerks. Witness asked what the books were, wishing o acquaint himself with the working of the office. There was one book, made up in the Land Office, called the Crown rent-roll, on which the collections of rent were based. These entries had to be copied into a book kept by Alver, called the Treasury rent-roll; but as the Crown rent-roll was not sent in early enough he had to take the previous year's record as a basis, and at the close of the year he prepared a schedule showing differences. Defendant also gave witness various other details of the work, and mentioned that the shroff alone handled the money, none assing through defendant's hands. His dutles were to prepare receipts as requested when payments were made, to pass receipts and counterfoils to the shroff, who entered them in a Chinese book, and then returned the counterfoils to defendant, to post ti e daily collection book therefrom, and also to write up the Treasury rent roll. Witness asked defendant how he knew what to write on the receipt forms, if he did not himself receive the money; defendant replied that usually the payment was accompanied by a memo, from the payer, which was passed to him. Witness audited a portion of the Crown rent revenue accounts. He took the Treasury rent roll, counterfoil receipt books, and the daily collection book, and saw that every counterfoll in the month under examination agreed with the daily collection book, and that the totals in the latter were duly passed through the cash book kept by Mr. Carvalho, and so to the Bank. Witness also took a number of counterfolls, at random, and compared them with the entries in the Treasury rent-roll. Witness i entified four counterfoll receipt books; also a daily collection book show. ing date, month, year, number of counterfoll, and amount-money paid in to defendant for Crown rent; it was labelled outside "Crown rents," Witness had checked the entries for October November and December, with the counterfoils each month's entries about the end of the following month. Witness was quite sure the entries in the daily collection book tallied with the amounts in the counterfoils. On the 28th January witness was in a room in the Treasury, next the Treasurer's room, examining the entries for December; befound one counterfoil which did not agree with the Treasury rent roll. Thought it was counterfoil no. 1678 showing in defendant's writing receipt from Mr. N. J. Ede on 23rd December, 1892, $190 36, on four Inland Lots, for the year ending 25th December, 1892; the rent roll showed that the total ought to be $600, 36, showing a "leakage" of $500. Defendant came into the room just then, and witness pointed out these discrepancies crepancies which he had discovered. On the 30th he was again working in this manner at the Treasury, and spoke to the defendant, pointing out the two Land Investment discrepancies, showing him the counterfoils and rent-roll Defendant saidhe could not understand it. This was some time before 11 s.m. Mr. Shelton Hooper brought the receipts into the Treasury that morning. Defendant was shown them in the afternoon, in presence of witness, Mr. Shelton Hooper, and the Colonial Treasurer. Defendant again said he could not understand it; he could not have received the money, and if anything was wrong it must be the shroff. Witness was not a sure whether Mr. Shelton Hooper was pesent when this was said. All this took place in the "Crown rent. room." Defendant left the room, and witness afterwards, leaving the Treasurer alone. Witness crossed the passage to the cashler's office, and with the defendant questioned the shroff about the Land Investment receipts. The Treasurer came in, and asked defendant to go and make enquiries from Mr. Silva, in another. room. He was away about half a minute. On returning to the Crown rent room witness noticed that the counterfoil book 1701 to 1800 was missing; it had been on the table when witness went out. > In the House of Commons last night Sir Henry Meysey Thompson, in moving his resolution, said that it was in no wise a party question and that he did not urge the adoption of Bimetallism. All he asked for was a remedy.

In the debate which followed, Mr. Gladstone stated that he was unable to take the initiative from America and that no plan had been developed enabling Great Britain to change her standard of value. If the motion were carried it. would place the Government in a ridiculous position, as the latter had no plan to submit, but nevertheless the Government were ready to sift the question. Mr. Gladstone then went on to say that wages had greatly increased in the past forty years under Monometallism, and that Bimetallism would involve serious loss of capital invested abroad. He therefore asked the House to give the matter their careful consideration before forsaking the foundation whereon the commercial greatness of the Empire had been raised.

Mr. Goschen expressed his agreement with the orthodox arguments advanced by Mr. Gladstone, but regretted that the Government were unwilling to urge the reassembling of the Brussels Conference. He held it to be the duty of Great Britain to exhaust every effort to extend

His father's guest was well booked on the subject. That we may guarantee. That's how he got the purple skin and the dull eyes. And that's what made him fairly turn sour with envy when he saw the boy eating like a hungry dog, and with as little fear of the consequences. Ah, dear, dearl if we elderly men and women could est now as we could when our chins came just up to the top of the table! But we can't, that's certain. Why not? Thus we have it:-

"I. Caroline Nixon (wife of Exra Wixon, wholesale clog manufacturer), of 4, St. Agnes Mount. Stoney Rook Lane, and 85, Upper Accommodation Road Leeds, do solemnly and sincerely declare as follows :--

"Up to November, 1885, I was always strong and hearty. At this time I fell loto a low, weak state. I was tired, languid, and low-spirited. I had a bad taste in the mouth and expectorated a deal of phlegm. My appetite was poor, and after eating I had great pain at the chest and between the shoulders, and so bad was this that I was afraid to cat. I got no sleep at night, and for weeks would lie awake most of the night, and was worse tired in the morning than when I went to bed. I was quite worn out, and got so weak that I could scarcely get about the house. As it was. I had to constantly lie down on the couch. Having a large family to look after, I was compelled to be up and doing, otherwise I should have been in bed. I had often heard people speak of Indigestion and Dyspepsia, but did not think it was so bad as I found it. In this miserable condition I continued week after week, only to find myself geiting weaker and weaker. I saw a doctor in York Road, who gave me medicine, but I got no better. Getting anxious, I went to a clover, experienced doctor, but after being under his treatment some time I gave up: taking his v. medicine, for I got worse instead of botter. Both doctors said I was suffering from indigestion, but they were unable to do anything for me. I now lost all faith in physic, and looked on my case as incurable, when one day a book was left at the house telling of a medicine called Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and I read of several cases recombling mine having been cured by it. I sent to Mr. Cole. chemist in Marsh Lane, and got a bottle. After taking the Syrup three days I felt relief, my appetite returned and my food digested, and before I had taken one large bottle I was cured, and have since kept in good health. After my recovery one of my daughters was taken bad with sheumatism, so I gave her some Seigel's Syrup and she soon got well. If any of my family all anything a dose or two of the Syrup soon sets them right, and for the past four orfive years we have needed no doctor owing to taking the medicine. I consider that Beigel's Syrup has saved my life, and I have recommended it to many, and if by publishing this statement others may come to be benefited, I give permission to the proprietors. to use it as they think proper. The start was

Mrs. Nixon says: "I had often heard people speak of indigestion and dyspepsis, but did not think it was so bed as I found it." There's just where the trouble is. .. Healthy folks simply can't imagine what a concentrated horror, what a death-in-life, this discess is. If they could they would take every precention against it. Even Toddles would have eaten lower terts, puddings, and cakes. For indiges-tion and dyspepsis, lightly as we speak of it in our Ignorance, sctually destroys more human beings than war, pestilence, and famine combined, and the only trustworthy remedy, so far as we yet know, is the one meniloned and need by Mes: Blaon, addit.
